Bought Your Bond Yet?

This is the last week of the Second Victory Loan and the Saanich Peninsula and Gulf Islands unit is well on the way to the objective of $940,000.

To obtain this quota, however, is not sufficient, it is hoped that all units throughout the Dominion will exceed their quotas and this unit should not prove an exception.

Major G. S. Yardley, unit organizer, stated today:

"I am satisfied we will reach our quota, but we must exceed it to do our share towards Canada oversubscribing the $600,000,000 Second Victory Loan.

"The sub unit of North Saanich is behind in subscriptions and I am asking the residents of this district and especially the businessmen of Sidney to ask themselves if they have done their part in helping to keep our country furnished with necessary materials to keep the invaders out.

"The gallant boys who are serving with the Air Force at Patricia Bay are not contented with offering their lives for Canada, they are giving part of their wages as well. Up to date they have subscribed over $21,000 to the Second Victory Loan. Surely you are not going to stand by and see these boys do their bit and carry your responsibility as well.

"Remember your businesses are prospering through local Defence projects, which have been made possible by loyal Canadians loaning their money to the Government for this purpose. So don't turn the salesman down when he calls, dig deep and do your best.

If it is more convenient, call at the Victory Loan office on Third Street, or 'phone, the number is Sidney 208.

"Canada is not asking you to give your money, she is asking you to loan it, and will pay you for your trouble.

"Let's be able to say at the end of this loan campaign North Saanich went over the top and members of the Sidney Businessmen's Association subscribed 100 percent."

WORD FROM ILSLEY

The Review is in receipt of the following telegram from the Dominion Public Relations Committee, Second Victory Loan:

"The Second Victory Loan at mid-week was passing its nominal objective and heading toward the oversubscription for which Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, appealed at the start of the week. Cumulative total announced Tuesday of subscriptions to close of business Monday was $579,151,350 from 720,230 subscribers, with all indications that Tuesday's Victory Bond purchases would carry total past the minimum national quota subscription figure for Monday of $40,360,750 included investment of $11,000,000 by Canada Life Assurance Co."

Since this wire was received word has been received that the Second Victory Loan has gone over the top and is now well over the $600,000,000 mark.

GOSLEY OF THE R.A.F. APPRECIATED

The concert and dance staged by the Saanich Peninsula Branch of the Canadian Legion on Friday last at the North Saanich Service Club Hall taxed the capacity of the hall to its fullest extent, a record crowd being present.

The president of the branch welcomed the audience and the concert was in the hands of Comrade Sansbury. Despite the fact that several of the artists were kept away by sickness an enjoyable program was given by those present. Of course the main item was the appearance of A.C. C. Gosley of the R.A.F., who in two appearances gave us an opportunity to laugh at ourselves as seen through English eyes. Other artists contributing to the program were Mr. McIntosh who rendered two excellent guitar solos, Miss A. Smith, piano accordion solos, tenor solos by Mr. Walter Jones and the Musons' band gave several selections. To finish up the program Comrade Sansbury led the audience in a rousing community sing-song.

The rest of the evening was de-

Recently joining the staff of the Experimental Station, Saanichton, is R. M. Adamson, who has been attached to the experimental farms service at Morden, Man., since 1938, as assistant, specializing in vegetable crops.

In 1935 Mr. Adamson graduated with his B.Sc. degree from the University of Alberta, received his B.A. in 1936, and concluded graduate work at the institution under Dr. J. D. Shoemaker, professor of horticulture, and received his M.Sc. degree in 1937.

Before joining the staff of the Dominion Experimental Station at Morden Mr. Adamson took further post-graduate studies at Ohio State University.

Mr. Adamson will be in charge of the vegetable crops and vegetable seed department at the station here.

ACTIVE YEAR RECORDED BY AUXILIARY

A report of the work accomplished during the months from May, 1941, to February of this year inclusive, by the Women's Auxiliary to the Air Services is given and shows an excellent amount of work achieved.

Members of the auxiliary with Mrs. Wm. Poupore, president, are to be commended for the many achievements during the past months.

The following record reveals a little of what has been done: Public address system R.C.A.F.; donation toward P.A. system R.A.F.; curtains, sergeants' mess, 48; pillow slips, 40; large rubber sheet; small rubber sheets, 3; towels for hospital, 97; small pillows for hospital, 12; gas and oxygen machine. Knitting was under the supervision of Mrs. Ounsted.

The auxiliary would like to state that they do not work for the R.C.A.F. alone, but for all the air services, and would be glad to welcome the wives of the men of the R.A.F. to the auxiliary.

Letters of thanks, too numerous to mention, have been received for sweaters, mufflers, socks, and other articles received by men in the air services.

The three associations, the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, the Saanich Pioneer Society and the South Saanich Farmers' Institute, in all of which Mr. Malcolm has long been a valued member, met to offer their felicitations. After refreshments were served, Mr. George T. Michell presented the honored guests with a handsome silver tray, suitably inscribed.

Several members of these organizations spoke glowingly of the many services rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm throughout the years, and much regret was voiced on their leaving the community. The good wishes of all were extended to them.

It was stated that twenty pair of socks had been completed and these with cigarettes and chocolate, have been dispatched to twenty local men serving overseas with the 16th Scottish, who during the last year also received 116 articles including sweaters, socks, helmet caps, etc., made and shipped to them by the Knitting Club.

FIFTY YEARS MARRIED

ROYAL OAK, March 4.—Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sykes, of 1746 Lulie Street, were the recipients of many congratulations from friends on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary on Feb. 27.

A reception was held at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Walter J. Matcham, Prospect Lake. Mrs. A. Silver was joint hostess with Mrs. Matcham, and Rev. F. Conley had charge of the "golden wedding book," in which all the guests signed their names as a souvenir of the happy occasion.

The gold and white motif was reflected in the daffodils and narcissi decorating the rooms and on the tea table, which was centered with the anniversary cake. Miss K. Oldfield poured tea and Shirley Lundy, a granddaughter of the venerable couple, and Rosemary Hurst assisted in serving. Many beautiful flowers and messages of congratulation were received by Mr. and Mrs. Sykes. Morris Lundy, a grandson, was also present.

REGISTRATION CARDS MUST BE CARRIED

A reminder is given to all persons, 16 years and over, that by Dominion regulations national registration certificates must be carried and be able to be shown upon request from authorities.

It is understood that it has been found that many individuals, especially within defence areas, have certificates but are not carrying same. To keep within the law adults must be registered and able to produce certificate when authorities request same.

at the end of the month.

In February a bridge was held which turned out very successful, the sum of $60.00 being realized.

This month arrangements are being made for the Little Theatre group of Victoria to sponsor an evening's entertainment. The date has not yet been arranged but will be announced later.

AH, BOTH WERE SURPRISED AT THIS PARTY

GALIANO ISLAND, March 4. A very enjoyable evening was spent when Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bellhouse entertained at the Farmhouse Inn on Saturday, Feb. 28, in honor of Mrs. J. Ahlgren, the former Kay Norris, who is a recent bride, and Miss Mary Scoones, who celebrated her 21st birthday on March 1.

Cards were played during the early part of the evening, after which Mrs. Ahlgren was the recipient of some very pretty and interesting gifts from her many friends on the island, presented to her in a prettily-decorated box.

Supper was served at midnight, and at the stroke of twelve Miss Mildred Duncan carried in a lovely birthday cake lighted by twenty-one candles, and presented it to Miss Mary Scoones, together with a travelling clock, a gift from many of her friends, and several other gifts.

An amusing thing about this party was that the two principals were invited to attend, each in honor of the other, neither knowing that they themselves were to be honored.

INSTITUTE MET AT GANGES ON FRIDAY

GANGES, March 4.—The regular monthly meeting of the Ganges Women's Institute was held last Friday afternoon in the committee room of the Mahon Hall, with the president, Mrs. Charlesworth, in the chair. Following the formal opening, the minutes and financial statement were read, the latter showing over $16 on hand.

The correspondence included a letter from the Provincial Health Department in Victoria, regretting its inability to send a dentist this year owing to many having joined the forces. The letter was in answer to a request in connection with the Institute's intention of sponsoring another dental clinic at Ganges. The members decided to make a still further effort to obtain the services of a dentist before abandoning the idea.

It was suggested that the secretary write Mrs. Alfred Watt, at present in B.C., and see if it would be possible for her to visit the Island at some early date and address the members of the Institute. It was decided to leave over all plans for the children's gardens competition and the annual Rose Show until the March meeting, when they would be discussed.

After the adjournment of the business meeting several friends of members arrived for the silver tea, which had been arranged under the sponsorship of Mrs. B. G. Wolfe-Merton, assisted by Mrs. W. McDermott. The table was attractively decorated and centred by a large bowl of daffodils and pussy willows. Tea was poured by Mrs. Charlesworth. A pretty table cloth, embroidered by Mr. C. A. Goodrich, was won in a contest by Mrs. T. F. Speed and returned by her to be sold for the benefit of the funds.

Galiano Boy A.R.P. Lecturer In Australia

Conducted by Fire-Officer Gilmour a display, demonstrating the destructive efficiency of several types of incendiary bombs, and the methods used in fighting them, was given at the "Western Oval" where 5,000 gathered to witness the sight and the learn a little of the horrors of the war.

Are YOU Helping?

Let's all lend a hand to put the Second Victory Loan over the top. Let's help furnish the cash that is necessary to make more equipment for the boys AT THE FRONT! Let's help to STOP those retreats! Let's help the boys to ADVANCE!

We, who are left at home, have a very definite duty to see that the boys have a constantly increasing stream of machine guns, tanks, bombers, fighters, etc., to defeat the enemy as soon as possible. Don't let the boys down! They are confident that we will do our part — they are risking their LIVES — surely we can LOAN our money!

We feel sure that the Saanich Peninsula and Gulf Islands will not be lacking in digging up funds with which to carry on.

If you, however, cannot fight, let your dollars fight for you and yours. Buy Victory Bonds NOW! Do not let it be said that you have DONE NOTHING to check the ruthless, cunning enemy who is NOW AT OUR DOORS! Don't hesitate until you are called upon by a canvasser — ADVANCE by going to the Victory Loan headquarters in your community, TODAY!

ROOSEVELT ON FALSE RUMORS

The spreaded of gossip and false reports that may adversely affect the war has unwittingly joined the ranks of enemy fifth columnists—and Hitler attributes his successes in European countries to weakening of national structures by fifth columnists who undermined morale in the country about to be attacked.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, discussing President Roosevelt's recent address, said: "The speech was directed primarily to the people and the president made two points that deserve continuing attention from everyone. One of these points was his injunction against gossip and rumor."

"In this vicinity at least there is a wholesome appreciation of the danger of talking about troop movements, ship departures and the like. The danger of listening to and repeating rumors, concerning events supposed to have happened elsewhere, is less generally recognized."

"Within the last few days we have heard some of the most ridiculous yarns about what is supposed to have happened at some distant point or another."

"And whether a rumor is deliberately concocted by an Axis agent or originates in someone's careless surmise, gaining verisimilitude in someone's retelling, the effect is the same. Everyone who helps to spread the story is, wittingly or unwittingly, playing the Axis game."

"The president's strongest appeal to Americans, however, was not the negative one of avoiding rumor mongering. It was the positive plea: 'Our first job is to build up production.'"

"Americans are not going to avoid fighting in this war, but the production is still the major front of war."

We might remark that this is so in Canada also. Production is vital—and Victory Bonds provide the money for production of the tools of war.

Prosperous Era Can Follow War

"The era following the war might well be, instead of a period of depression as some pessimists forecast, a time of unparalleled prosperity created by new industries, new people and the latent power of Victory Bonds."

This encouraging note comes from a speech recently delivered by B. A. Trestran, prominent Toronto radio executive, who is in charge of the dominion industrial sales of the Victory Loan.

"The sale of each and every bond is a stepping-stone to victory," he added, "and the current campaign must succeed if Canada is to give concrete evidence of the determination for victory that marked the first campaign."

Argument Won't Defeat Enemies

Under an eight-column banner line across the top of its front page reading "Let Us Put First Things First and Buy Victory Bonds" the Chilliwack Progress said editorially:

"The simple war responsibility of each and every resident of this district this week is to put every unemployed dollar to work for victory and peace. The increasing menace of war to this country on both the Atlantic and the Pacific permits of no argument in this matter. All criticism or sense of frustration is secondary.

"Enemy submarines are operating close to our principal Atlantic ports, while Monday night a Japanese submarine pumped fifteen shells into an oil plant near Santa Barbara in California. In the United States, the Dies committee investigating enemy activities has seized detailed maps drawn by Japanese spies to guide an invasion of the United States through Alaska and north-western Canada. It may be safely assumed that these are not the only maps prepared by our Japanese enemies.

"The statements of President Roosevelt Monday night and of Winston Churchill yesterday morning did but emphasize the greatness and the gravity of our adversity in this war. The war is not going well for us.

"Will progress toward victory for us be advanced or retarded by refusing to lend Canadian dollars to Canada? There is only one answer.

"Like the story of the dog and the rabbit, if we stop to—well, argue—we will never catch the Japanese.

"There is much to be set right in Canada's war effort. Correction will come through the force of public opinion. It would, however, be fatal to contribute to defeat by substituting arguments for bullets. Would it not be safe and sane tactics to keep shooting down the enemy as a first objective? Let us make that one thing our all-out objective for the next ten days in this our land of goodly heritage. Let us make it a matter of personal pride to join with buoyant hope and courage in an expression of confidence that we and our country will not rest from its toil until, in the words of L. W. Brockington, "Hitler's darkness yields to the dawn and light becomes again in very truth the shadow of God."

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE MUCH APPRECIATED

GANGES, March 4.—A large and interested audience was present at the Mahon Hall, recently, when Archdeacon G. H. Holmes gave his lecture on the Cathedrals and Abbeys of England, as promised to the church committee, for the benefit of the organ fund.

The archdeacon, who had taken several beautiful photos when on a tour of the cathedral cities in the Old Country, illustrated his address with these pictures, many of which were colored. The Rev. J. Dewar assisted by showing the lantern slides of about 34 famous cathedrals, including Canterbury, York Minster, Durham, Christ Church Oxford and, of course, the better-known St. Paul's and Westminster Abbey. The lecturer drew particular attention to the varied forms of architecture used at the different periods of construction. Exteriors and interiors of these magnificent buildings, with close-ups of their windows, doors, massive pillars, statuary, etc., were depicted with many additional scenes of the surrounding country side, Roman Wall, Market Crosses and some of the few still remaining old English houses in Cheshire.

Situated on the River Wye, Tintern Abbey, noted for its great beauty and across the border, Melrose Abbey, considered the finest in Scotland, were amongst the ruins thrown on the screen and referred to by Archdeacon Holmes in his lecture, by which the sum of $17.70 was realized towards the fund specified.

Keeping One's Mind Off The War

The popular "Grouch" in the Vancouver Sun comments on the remark of a chap who said we need diversions "to keep our minds off the war." To this the Grouch replies. That is the trouble with us; we are too much concerned with taking our minds off the war. Some people I know don't think about the war at all. They never heard there was one on, but they do know that sugar is rationed, so they rush out and buy all the sugar they can and grow fat eating more sugar than ever. Other folk keep their minds off the war quite well, thank you, by keeping their hands in their pockets when the Red Cross or the Victory Loan salesman comes around."

If there is an AIR RAID ALARM

If there is an air raid alarm, don't telephone unless absolutely necessary. Leave the telephone system free to handle urgent calls by the authorities. Your safety may depend on this.

The recent blackout on the coast gave us a significant warning of how the public can quickly overload the telephone system, interfering with vital calls.

Resist the impulse to telephone about unusual sights or sounds during the present critical days.

Call Of The Chanticleer

Hail! Chanticleer,
The greeter of the morn.
While man with all his cares
Rests in sleep,
You hail him to another joyous dawn.

The old maimed year has passed away from sight
With all its catastrophic plight.
Will you not rouse us to our urgent needs?
Great men, with giant impulses for valiant deeds
Great hearts with passion to forgive the lustful foe
And yet to lay him low,
That he may rise again,
And live and love with other men.

Greeter of the morn,
Tell us the night is gone,
And that the day with pure light is nigh.
My mascot you will be,
A symbol of the Free.

—Walter Jones.

BRITISH GIRLS RELEASING R.A.F. GROUNDSMN

British women are now working flame-cutting machines, operating hydraulic plant and handling white-hot forgings. In a North-East England locomotive crane factory women drive all the cranes and operate electric rivet heaters, and also do oxyacetylene welding. Likewise in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force girls of the W.A.A.F. now share in the vital work of servicing aircraft and their weapons and are also being trained as armorers and electricians — W.A.A.F. armorer trainees are here seen fixing Browning guns into the wing of a Hurricane fighter.

Mrs. Smith Buys A Bond

A Typical Canadian Woman Realizes the Situation and Does Something About It

Millie Smith let her newspaper slip through her fingers. She leaned back in her chair and started to rock. It was an early spring day and though the sun was shining it was chilly outside. The logs gave a pleasing crackle and exuded a grateful warmth from the fireplace.

Millie thought of Joe and the children. Joe was inside now, asleep. He had been working harder and longer hours at the factory since war industry struck a higher tempo, and he was dead tired. Of course, there was the extra money. That helped after so many years of so little.

The children would be coming home from school pretty soon. She must warn them not to wake him.

She glanced down at the newspaper again and shuddered. She thought of the march of Nazi armies across other countries, of the beaten and hopeless people that the armies left behind them. And now, the menacing hordes of brown pygmies who were ravaging the sunny isles of the South Seas.

Her boy and girl were coming up the street now. Young Joe had his arms full of books. The little girl was tagging along behind, stopping now and then to pick a dandelion out of the grass.

As Millie watched them approach, she thought to herself as she had so many times lately: "What will the world be like when my children grow up?"

She recalled stories from Fascist countries, of toddlers in uniform learning how to carry a gun; of school boys and girls taught race hatred from their textbooks; of sons and daughters spying on mothers and fathers and telling their teachers when their parents criticized the government—these and other reports had made Millie say so often: "Thank God this is Canada and our children are safe from that."

Now she was not so sure. Newspaper accounts from abroad made it clear that the lives of children in the conquered states were being cut to a Nazi pattern. What had been applied affectively to the Hitler youth was now being applied to the children of conquered nations. Censored radio, censored movies, a censored press — these were but the beginning.

A PATTERN OF HATRED

The real attack was launched where it would be most effective, in the schools. Teachers were dismissed and textbooks were mutilated. The air was obviously to control the thinking and learning of the children until their minds would be as much alike as peas in a pod. Individual differences were to be stamped out.

Millie looked at her own two children and was afraid for them. Somehow the oceans separating the continents of the world seemed smaller than before. She thought of some of the things big Joe had said in criticism of some of our institutions. True, democracy isn't perfect, but it is better than Nazism—far, far better; and if the children repeated some of big Joe's remarks to their teachers in a Nazi-controlled state, it would mean a concentration camp.

Millie Smith is a typical Canadian woman. She reads the daily paper and interprets the war news in terms of what it means to her family and her country. As the Axis powers become increasingly aggressive, as the tide of battle ebbed and flowed on many fronts with success sometimes on our side and sometimes on the other, she had become alarmed.

To her, democracy means free speech, free press, and the right to vote. It means books, teachers, and schools free from censorship. It means racial tolerance and religious freedom. It means a childhood spent free from the shadow of a gun. It means family life free from spying and tattling. It means that the government is the servant

R.A.F. HEAD TO RETURN TO ENGLAND

It has been disclosed that Group Captain P. D. Robertson, A.M., R.A.F., Patricia Bay Station, will return shortly to England.

Group Captain Robertson arrived in Canada in October, 1940, and until he was transferred in September, 1941, to Patricia Bay Station he was stationed at Goderich, Ont.

For the last six months Group Captain Robertson has been officer commanding the air training and operational stations, R.A.F., Patricia Bay and in December, 1941, he also assumed command of the R.C.A.F. station.

It is understood that the command of the R.A.F. station will be taken over by Group Captain Pope, D.F.C., who has recently arrived from England, and Wing Commander John L. Plant, who for some months was officer commanding R.C.A.F. Station, will be placed temporarily in charge.

Citizens must realize they are not asked to GIVE; they are asked to LEND, and Victory Bonds can be bought in instalments the same as goods. While goods depreciate in value, bonds don't. And bonds pay interest.

HANDLE with CARE

It's probably going to be difficult to get new electrical appliances as long as this war lasts. The toaster, mixer, iron, coffee maker you have now will most likely be 'on the job' for the duration. So you'll take good care of them all, we know — and here are a few hints on 'how to do it' . . .

Don't yank the appliance cord to remove the plug from the socket. Disconnect it carefully and coil it so that it does not kink. Best of all — hang it up.

Don't wind the cord around an appliance that is still hot. When the cord begins to show signs of wear, have it attended to before it goes too far.

Don't let the appliances overheat.

Wipe them off after using.

Be careful not to scratch iron on buttons and fasteners.

After using your waffle iron or sandwich toaster — leave the lid open so that the appliance will cool properly. This will help to keep it clean, too.

Canada needs your help — Save and conserve in every way of the people, that the people are not the slaves of the state.

It means also that in a democracy, rights and responsibilities go together; that the people have the opportunity to participate in their government and to be a part of it.

Millie is afraid that all of this is threatened as the Axis hordes seek to tighten their grip. Sometimes she tries to imagine what an invasion of her own little British Columbia town would mean. More often she thinks of another kind of invasion—not by armies but by ideas. She has heard people say that any country could get along with the Nazis if its leaders would only try.

She remembers what happened to other countries that did just that—where the Nazis were met on their own terms, and where, without battles being fought or bombs being dropped, the countries were altered to fit the Nazi pattern, and the people's liberties lost to them.

MILLIE'S DECISION

Millie calls "Joe! Joe!" There is a grunt that seems to emerge from a stifled snore. Joe, in the middle of a yawn, says "Whaddayerwant?"

"We're going to have a heart-to-heart talk," says Millie.

Joe blinked. He had never seen Millie quite like this before. His word had always been law. But Millie's mouth was set; her features expressed a grim determination he had never seen before. He sat up on the edge of the bed.

"What's up?" he said.

"We're going to have a talk," said Millie.

"About what?" said Joe.

"About the children, their future, our future," said Millie.

It was several minutes before Joe quite got the drift of things. But Millie was not lacking in logic, and Joe was no fool despite his habit of criticizing the government—and government—that happened to be in power.

And gradually Joe began to see things the way Millie saw them. And, as he grasped the facts, one by one, he became enthusiastic. "Say-y-y!" he said, "you're right. Damned if you're not right. And everything we cut down on will be so much grist to our mill, won't it? And we'll need a nest-egg later on too, won't we?"

Then another thought struck him.

"Say-y-y!" he said, "we'll be investors, won't we? I always envied those guys who could invest their money, then sit back and take the earnings. Gee, Millie, you've got brains. Why didn't I think of it before? But, 'and his jaw dropped a little, 'how'll we raise the cash?'"

Millie smiled. "We didn't buy the furniture for cash," she said. "We bought it on time. We couldn't sell it now for a third of the price we paid for it. But we can buy Victory Bonds, draw the interest every six months, and get all our money back a few years from now. 'And,' she smiled happily, 'we'll be able to send the kids to college—like you always wanted to, and—oh Joe, let's scrape and scrape and buy as big a bond as we can, shall we?'"

"You bet we will!" said Joe.

And they did.

Two donations have to date been received for this purpose.

All-Australian Bomber Squadrons Flying With The British Royal Air Force

Australia, like Canada and New Zealand and other parts of the British Commonwealth of Nations, is giving a hundred percent support to the Mother Country in its struggle against the Axis aggressors. Many new squadrons of the R.A.F. are being formed composed entirely of Australian pilots and crews. Here an Australian rear gunner, carrying ammunition, is seen walking to his position in an aircraft based on a North of England aerodrome.

Betrayal By Those Who Sit At Home

"Betrayal it should be if we allow the best and bravest of our young men to go forth by sea, air and land to the farthest parts of the world, while we sit comfortably at home without making every effort to give them the arms to fight our implacable enemies."

Those words were uttered by Chief Justice D. A. McDonald in a recent address in Vancouver. He added:

"I have been asked, mostly by women, whether money is as safe in Victory Bonds as it is in the banks. The answer is simple. If Canada is not sound, neither are her banks nor her insurance companies. There is not safer investment in the world today than an investment in the Dominion of Canada.

"More than that, I would remind you that the interest paid on a Victory Bond is 100 percent greater than that paid in the banks."
